TRIBAL STORIES

1. Inspired by the symbolic maps and drawings of the Pacific Aborigines, the Dream collection by Orley Shabahang depicts their spiritual journey in a textual format. NYC, orleyshabahang.com. 2. Made by a team of tribal women in Kyrgyzstan, the Shyndak wool rugs from Felt feature hand-sewn geometric patterns in colored felts. Motifs bestow a blessing or tell a story, felts.co.uk. 3. The Harper rug by Elits, designed to coordinate with the brand's wallcoverings, is woven in natural jute and available in three colorways. D&D, elits.fr. 4. Inspired by the souls of Marrakech, playful motifs tell the story of love, color and adventure in the New Zealand wool Casablanca rug by Olli Ella. Available through Pink Lemon Blue Lime, Westport, pinklemonbluelime.com, us.cillella.com. 5. The Tree of Life motif from the Sarsote collection from Patterson Flynn Martin is composed of abstracted florals and textual designs in hand-knotted silk and wool. D&D, pattersonflynnmartin.com. 6. Urban Vibes, in wool and silk, by J.D. Staron depicts designer Jaiica Staron's view of the nocturnal landscape of major cities. Made in Nepal, the strong colors and geometric forms are handcrafted utilizing time-honored weaving techniques. Stamford, jdstaron.com. 7. Pulled from the Kashali archives, the design of the hand-tufted wool and linen Balcons Hope rug is a reinterpretation of a circa 1960 Ingrid Dessaur rug. NYDC, kashali.com.
